Found a Cure For Rheumatism.

"I suffered with rheumatism for two years and could not get my right hand to my mouth for that length of time," writes Lee L. Chapman, Mapleton, Ia. "I suffered terrible pain so I could not sleep or lie still at night. Five years ago I began using Chamberlain's Liniment and in two months I was well and have not suffered with rheumatism since." For sale by all dealers.

Engineer Perfects Plans.

Engineer Jacobs was here from Oklahoma City the past week making a survey and drawing up plans and specifications for a waterworks and electric light system for Beaver. He returned home Monday. Chief Engineer Kennedy will be here today probably with a final report and the matter will then be ready to be acted upon by the city council.

Plenty of good, living spring water was located on college land only two miles from Beaver which will furnish an abundant supply for all our needs and this may be had for practically a song. The proposition is well under way and we trust will be put before the people within a very short time.

P. L. Thomas has purchased the Dugraw residence property on the East side.

Initiate Newly Weds.

A large number of the people of Beaver, armed with tin pans, cow bells and every other contrivance with which a hideous noise could be made, called upon Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Braidwood at their new home, Friday night, at an unseemly hour for calling and protested so vigorously for admittance that the newly wedded couple were glad to stop the din by graciously bidding them welcome and supplying the treats which are always forthcoming on such occasions. The occasion was a merry one and doubtless after such an initiation Mr. and Mrs. Braidwood now feel themselves fulfilled Beaverites.

A number of Beaver County people attended court at Alva last week as witnesses in the Habeas Corpus case of Willis Banks vs. Mary Dowd. The case involved the custody of Martha Banks the seven-year-old daughter of Willis Banks. Mr. Bank's wife died near Balke about two years ago and the child was sent to her grandmothers to live and when Mr. Banks wanted to take his child home Mrs. Dowd refused to permit him to do so. Mr. Banks then filed Habeas Corpus proceeding, which was heard by Judge Looftbourrow on the 10th at Alva and the custody of the child awarded to Mr. Banks.

Summary of Wilson's 'Message.'

The following is a summary of President Wilson's message to Congress, April 8th.

It is clear to the whole country that the tariff duties must be altered. They must be changed to meet the radical alterations in our economic life which the country has witnessed within the last generation.

Our task is to square the tariff schedules with the facts. The sooner this is done, the sooner our business men will be able to thrive by the law of nature—the law of free business—instead of the law of artificial arrangement.

We long ago have passed beyond the modest notion of "protecting" our industries, and moved to the idea that they were entitled to direct patronage of the government.

We have built up a set of exemptions from competition by which it was easy to organize monopoly.

We must abolish everything that bears even a semblance to privilege, and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a necessity to be efficient and economical. There must be whetting of American wits by contest with those of the rest of the world.

Miss Lena Wright, Mrs. J. R. Quinn and Miss Keola Mansfield went over to Guyton Friday of last week. E. Y. Ogilvie took them over in his new Case car. Miss Wright went over to serve as one of the judges in the Texas county field meet which occurred at Guyton Saturday. Miss Keola went along for the pleasure of the outing and to witness the events and Mrs. Quinn took advantage of the opportunity to visit friends and relatives. They returned Sunday and report a pleasant trip and an interesting meet but Miss Wright states frankly that while Texas county displayed some rare talent that in no competition did they show more ability than did our students in their contest two weeks ago. We are not surprised at such a report for our boys and girls are as good as the best and never yet has Beaver had occasion to feel other than proud of them and the forces which have placed them where they are.

Killed a Cow.

E. Y. Ogilvie, of LaKemp, who has just purchased a new "30" Case automobile which has mighty power, and who drove over to Guyton last week with a party of passengers, accosted a cow in the public highway near the Texas county line and, although he was going at a slow speed, the machine collided with the "critter," breaking her leg. The owner, a Mr. Dunn, was pretty irate over the accident. So far as we can learn, Mr. Ogilvie could scarcely be blamed for the unfortunate occurrence.

It has been suggested that now is the time to get out the fly traps and keep these pests down before they get a start. And the suggestion is a timely one. It should be followed by everyone and in addition all rubbish piles, manure and other refuse should be hauled away or burned. If this is done a long start will have been taken toward abating the fly nuisance. The few that are to be found now will multiply by millions in a few weeks, unless destroyed. Get after the fly.

Beaver Lodge Makes Best Contribution.

The Knights of Pythias lodges of the state, some three hundred in number, made contribution to relieve the flood sufferers in the late disaster in Ohio. $400 was contributed and of the amount Beaver lodge sent $37.00, about ten per cent of the entire amount, which certainly speaks well for the generosity of the Knights at this place. Again Beaver leads.

Sells Some Good Stuff.

Harvey Borden, of Couch, sold some extra good stock, which brought good prices, at his sale conducted at his farm, near Couch, last Friday. One broad sow and six pigs brought $80.00 under the hammer, another $50.00 and two 2-year-old colts sold for $225.00. Stock always brings good prices at these sales. Beaver County farmers are fast beginning to realize that they must raise livestock along with their crops and in the end the best grades are the cheapest.

How much are you doing to help the town in which you are living? If everyone, or even a majority of the citizens, would constitute himself a committee of one to promote the interests of his town what a boom would come to many places that are now vegetating. Don't wait for someone else to move, nor for organized movements, but let each do his best. The power of any one earnest and progressive man or woman is greater than many people suppose.
